

pERC Member - Non-Oncology Physician
Christine A. Kennedy, MSc MD DPhil CCFP FCFP FRCPC CCBOM

Christine Kennedy is a practicing physician and health economist who graduated from the University of Calgary medical school, Queen's University, and Trinity College, University of Oxford. She practices in public health and preventive medicine, occupational medicine, and family medicine and has a particular passion for advocating for improved prevention and supports around cancer and mental well-being and addiction care in the diverse populations she serves. She practices family medicine (at Chipewyan Prairie Dene First Nation), public health (environmental) and occupational medicine in Alberta, Canada. She has published approximately 35 peer reviewed scientific papers.